

As April draws to a close, it is once again time to bring you SPORIFY's quarterly newsletter. We hope that you have had an enjoyable and successful year so far! In this edition, we reflect on all that has happened since January, and look forward to the exciting things we have in store for the coming months.

Reflections on Q1

We were very pleased to attend several wonderful events over the past three months. In February, we went to DIA's Regulatory Submissions, Information, and Document Management Forum in North Bethesda, where we heard industry and regulatory stakeholders speak on evolving data standards and requirements, as well as regulatory information management approaches. Overall, it provided hugely valuable insights about building and maintaining data management foundations, improving current processes, and applying useful new technologies.

In March, we attended Breakthrough 2025 in Zurich. This year's theme, 'AI in Action', dealt with the ways in which generative AI is driving advancements within the areas of research and development. More than fifty inspiring speakers talked on a wide range of subjects, from the regulatory strategies required in an ever-changing environment to how digital developments are changing the future of compliance.

What's Next for SPORIFY

The SPORIFY development team are currently hard at work preparing to introduce PMS (Product Management Service) functionality to the SPORIFY system. Later this year, users will be able to sync, filter, search, and compare products using SPORIFY. Timelines for the delivery of this functionality are still being finalised and will be communicated once confirmed.

Alongside our work on the PMS module, our next major SPORIFY upgrade will feature an updated user interface and improved system performance. This upgrade will be released to a customer facing sandbox so customers can experience and interact with the new features before general release. We will deliver this in a stepwise manner, with the OMS module being released to sandbox first, and subsequent module deployments (SMS, RMS, PMS) being made throughout the rest of the year. We look forward to your feedback on these new and improved features.

Upcoming Events

We will be attending the Veeva R&D and Quality Summit in Madrid from June 4-5. If you also plan to attend, come and speak to us at the SPORIFY booth, which will be located in the Regulatory Zone.

We are also delighted to announce that SPORIFY will feature at the DIA 2025 Global Annual Meeting in Washington from June 15-19. This gathering will see regulatory experts, healthcare innovators, and industry leaders come together to discuss the future of the life sciences sector, and promises to provide first-rate learning and networking opportunities. We hope to see you there!
